

Erin Hounds is a Cheshire-based group established to help some of the thousands of abandoned and neglected sighthounds in Ireland.

Greyhounds and lurchers have a hard time because of the vast numbers bred for racing and coursing. Many thousands of healthy young dogs are routinely destroyed every year because they are surplus to man's requirements for sport.

The sighthound family includes greyhounds, whippets and salukis. A sighthound crossed with any working dog is known as a lurcher. These vary in size (large and small), type of coat (hairy and smooth) and nature (laid-back and active).

Our committed and experienced volunteers are dedicated to giving these gentle dogs the chance to find a loving home ... and you a companion for life.
